

NOTICE

There is an artists' residency.

The residency is in the Curfew Tower, Cushendall, County Antrim, Northern Ireland.

The Curfew Tower is a fortified building built in the early years of the nineteenth century. It has five floors, one room on each floor.

From the ground up: dungeon, bathroom, living room, bedroom, bedroom. There is a kitchen adjoining the back of the tower. The tower has all modern conveniences. The accommodation allows for no more than two artists in residence at any one time.

Successful applicants have to find their own way to the tower. They will be required to knuckle down, making work that is a response to the tower, the locality or the people of Cushendall.

Some aspect or evidence of the work generated by each artist is to be left behind in the tower. This work will form part of The Curfew Tower Collection. The people of Cushendall will make you feel welcome and the local scenery is beautiful.

WARNINGS:

The tower has no curtains.

There are no grants to be applied for.

Don't go to The Tower if you want to escape.
