COMMODIFY

Commodify your dying breath
Commodify your broken dream
Commodify your new start in life
Commodify missing the bus
Commodify the time it takes
Commodify the birth of your first
Commodify the death of your last
Commodify the memory of every boy you ever kissed
Commodify what has never been commodified before
Commodify that moment when you knew it was all too late
Commodify what has been commodified too many times before

And of course...

Commodify the dying of the light

And...

Commodify a new day dawning
